WALT write the end of our own version of the story.

Today we are going to write the end of our story.

Look at your story map. Do your characters become friends, does the giant character catch the Jim character or does he escape?

Retell the end of your story to your teddy or use your puppet theatre.

You can use these words to help you:

loved

played

asked

come

beanstalk

When you have practiced retelling the end of your story, write it in your purple book. Here is the ending to my story.

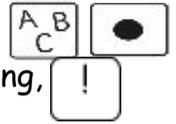

The bear loved his hoop and they played basketball until it got dark. Bill's tummy started to rumble. "Would you like to come to my house for dinner," asked Bill.

"Yes please," said the bear. So Bill and the bear climbed down the beanstalk as fast as they could and ran off to Bill's house.

Bill's mum was surprised to see a bear with Bill but she invited them in and cooked Bill's favourite dinner, fried salmon.

Remember to:

- use your sounds to help you spell the words
- use a finger space between each word
- use a capital letter to start each sentence and full stop at the end
- use an exclamation mark at the end of the sentence, if it is surprising, exciting or forceful
- use the past tense

When you have finished writing, ask someone to help you read back through your work and check that you have included all the things above.

Well done! You have finished writing your own story!

Optional tasks (you don't have to do them but they might be fun!)

- Retell your whole story from beginning to end to your family or to your teddy. You could use your puppet theatre to create a performance for them. They will love it!
- Make your story into a book! Don't forget to add pictures.
- Make a story telling video. Record yourself reading your story (it's not as easy as it looks, believe me!)
- Create an animation of your story using Purple Mash.
